Martin Luther King, Jr.

Martin Luther King, Jr. helped end segregation.
He was brave and led without fear.
He never stopped trying, no matter what,
Till equality was here.

Martin Luther King, Jr. united people
He went to the White House but was stopped.
He gave a speech about being fair.
Some people liked him, others did not,
But for all people, he cared.

Martin Luther King, Jr. fought for Black people
His speeches inspired people to treat others equally.
He was kind, even if things didn't go his way.
He ended segregation peacefully.

MLK is not just a day.
If you help without fear, you'll always stand tall.
He's remembered as a hero:
One caring heart can do it all.

By: Archer Hogsten - 4th grade